RE: Client Reference for WorldPoint Site Selection Services

To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of Shenzhen Kedali Industry Co., Ltd., I am pleased to provide this client reference for WorldPoint Site Selection Services. Kedali's U.S. expansion represented our first venture into the United States. Because the project would establish our U.S. headquarters, the location decision carried significant strategic importance for our company. WorldPoint understood the importance of this engagement and approached the project with the care, urgency, and professionalism required for a major international investment.

What distinguished WorldPoint was the extent to which their team went beyond the traditional role of a site-selection consultant. They conducted a comprehensive search across more than seven states, helped evaluate competitive location options, supported negotiations with state, local, and project stakeholders, and provided clear guidance on the business, workforce, logistics, and cost factors most important to our decision.

WorldPoint also supported our team with practical needs that are often outside the standard scope of site-selection services. When housing, transportation, and accommodations were needed, they helped secure appropriate arrangements for our representatives. When our president traveled to the United States, WorldPoint coordinated thoughtful executive-level accommodations and handled important details that helped make the visit efficient, productive, and professional.

Throughout the engagement, WorldPoint was responsive, resourceful, discreet, and committed to our success. Their team remained available despite the time difference between China and the United States, and they were consistently prepared to answer questions, address concerns, and solve problems quickly. Their ability to combine market-entry strategy, site evaluation, negotiations, relocation support, transportation and housing coordination, and day-to-day project assistance made a meaningful difference for our company. Based on our experience, we are pleased to serve as a client reference and recommend WorldPoint Site Selection to international manufacturers and organizations seeking a trusted partner for U.S. site selection and project support. Please feel free to contact me should you need any additional information.

Sincerely,
